The main map displays the commune of Oelleville with its various land use zones. The central area is predominantly pink, indicating it is open to construction. Surrounding this are large areas of light green, which are not open to construction except for specific cases. Dark brown patches represent agricultural buildings. Light blue areas indicate wetlands inventoried in the commune's map, while darker blue areas represent wetlands recorded by the EPTB. A network of blue lines shows the flood-prone zones. The map is overlaid with a grid of numbered parcels, ranging from 1 to over 200. A small inset map in the top left corner shows the commune's location within the Vosges department.
